PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Dear Neighbors,

First, thanks to everyone who came to our September general membership meeting to discuss the budget. I know listening to me drone on about changes in the budget is not the best way to spend a Tuesday night. However, it is vital that we determine the most effective way to use the association's money. The only way we can do that is by discussing it as a group. I think we did a great job at that and crafted a budget that helps us make our neighborhood even better.

With the budget set, we can look to what's coming next in Fairmount. It is October, so we'll be slowing down just a little as the Holidays approach. Fairmount won't hold general meetings in November or December. We will have our annual holiday party and socials but other than that we'll take a step back and prepare 2013.

In that spirit, we are looking for people interested in leading the Home Tour this year. As we all know, Home Tour is our major source of revenue and the neighborhood's chance to show off. Each year it grows bigger and bigger and 2013 looks to be our biggest yet. If you are interested in being Home Tour Director please contact myself or any of the board members.

Also, I want to thank Daggett Middle School for hosting our general membership meeting this month. The staff and student body there have done a tremendous job there and we are lucky to have them in Fairmount.

Finally, I'm excited to report that we will have an update on our Fairmount Park art project. We've been waiting a long time to get this project under construction and that time is very near. I will have more details for you at the October general membership meeting. As always, thanks for taking the time to be a part of our great community.

The Fairmount Beat by Mark Russell, neighborhood patrol officer

Wow, what a fast year it has been. It seems like only yesterday it was the beginning of 2012.

With the holiday season quickly approaching I wanted to share a few safety tips which are targeted toward the holiday season but many can be used every day of the year.

Shopping:

- Avoid wearing expensive jewelry while shopping.
- Park in a well-lit area and have your keys in hand prior to arriving at your vehicle.
- Be alert when walking in parking lots and parking garages
- Be aware of your surroundings and not looking down texting or talking on your phone.
- Try and always take a family member or a friend with you on all shopping trips.
- Avoid carrying large sums of cash and limit the number of credit cards on your person.
- Keep cash and credit cards in your front pants pocket.
- When placing items into your vehicle keep them out of sight such as in the trunk or under the cargo security shade in most SUV's and Cross Over

Mark Russell
Cell: 817.944.1316
Office: 817.392.3620
Marcus.Russell@fortworthtexas.gov vehicles.

- Always lock your doors and roll up your windows.

Home:

DON'T PLACE YOUR CHRISTMAS TREE IN FRONT OF A WINDOW.

Most of us like for everyone to know that we are in the Christmas spirit by putting our well lit tree in front of the biggest window facing the street with wrapped presents all around.

For a thief this is easy pickin's and makes their job so much easier. They will walk the streets looking for easy targets such as this, then lay in wait for you to leave. Sometimes we even see them sitting in their cars with binoculars peering into these windows and listing what they see at each house.

- Draw your curtains and pull down your blinds to limit window shopping by thieves.
- Instruct parcel delivery services NOT TO LEAVE PACKAGES

ON YOUR PORCH but to contact the homeowner or leave the item with a neighbor.

- Tell your neighbors, COP members and NPO when you are leaving town.
- Stop your mail and paper service.
- Place lights on a timer so that it appears you are home at night.
- If you only have one vehicle ask your neighbor to park in your driveway.

Even if you are out of town you can call the Fort Worth police non-emergency number @ 817-335-4222 and request extra patrol because you are out of town.

Have your heater and fireplace checked before you really need to use them.

Christmas decorations:

- Water your Christmas tree.
- Inspect your lighting on the tree and all ornamental lighting.
- Don't overwhelm your electrical outlets.
- Last but not least, remember Santa likes cookies and milk and so does Mark Russell.

Stay safe and have a wonderful holiday season.

Get to Know Your Neighbors

Jane Kucko, Director of Communications

Fairmount friends and neighbors gather at the October FNA social in September (photo by Stacy Luecker). Getting to your neighborhood is a great way to better know your community and keep a watch on each other. That is what makes Fairmount a great community (see letter from President Sean Lynch).

Farmer's & Artisan Market by Glenn Potter

The Fort Worth Southside Neighbors Association is organizing a Farmer's/Artisan Market in the South Main Urban Village for each Saturday, 9am-1pm. Opening day will be Sat, Oct. 20th! Support Fort Worth Southside by attending the Market--perfect timing for holiday cooking and gifts.

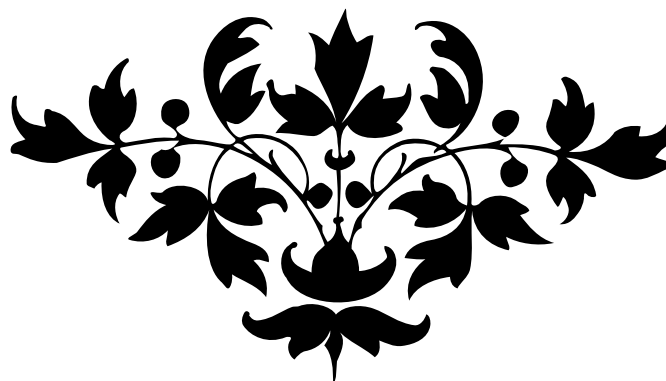

FALL INTO FALL WITH FIRE STATION COMMUNITY CENTER FALL FESTIVAL

By Juana Ayala

Fire Station Community Center will be hosting its annual Fall Festival on October 27, 2012, from 6pm-9pm. Festival is a community event for the general public and neighborhood residents. The fall festival attractions will include crafts hosted by staff members from Michaels, games, face painting, costume contest, prizes and raffles. Admission is FREE; tickets will be sold for 25 cents each to be used for games and concessions.

Fire Station uses this event every fall as an opportunity to bring the community together for food and fun for the whole family. This event was attended by hundreds of local parents, families and friends. This year we're committed to making it an even bigger success as The Cultural Arts Center presents NBC5 news personality, Deborah Ferguson. Fire Station Community Center in collaboration with The Cultural Arts Center will once again commemorate Dia de los Muertos with a celebration that remembers and honors the departed by creating altars decorated with crafts made by youth in after school programs, food and art.

Dia de los Muertos is a celebration of expression in many ways. Not only is it dedicated to remembering and honoring those that have passed before us, it is also centrally focused on the artistic expression of the living through the creation of ofrendas. If you are interested in volunteering, e-mail Brenda Howell, director of Fairmount promotions at 817-991-2834 promotions@historicfairmount.com.

OCTOBER Yard of the Month

by Tim Appling

Jeremy and Kimberly Lawrence moved to Fairmount just a few months ago, but wasted no time in putting their green thumbs to work. What less than a year ago was a grassless patch of dirt at 2236 College Avenue is now our October Yard of the Month.

If variety is the spice of life, then the Lawrences have created one spicy space. Their garden is a botanical feast for the eyes where it takes only a minute to spot dozens of plant varieties. Water conservation being an important consideration for the Lawrences, they tend to select drought tolerant plants and Texas native varieties.

These include several types of sage and ornamental grasses. They have also planted native hibiscus, Mexican petunia, rock rose, and turk's cap. In her cooking, Kimberly loves to use oregano, mint, and basil that grow just steps from her front door.

Oak-leaf hydrangea, bottle brush, American beauty berry, and shrimp plant are a few of the striking shrubs that can be seen. Perhaps a bit unexpected are the variegated ginger, eucalyptus, and umbrella plant. And there are many others too numerous to list here.

Kimberly is a social worker and Jeremy is a former TV engineer who now is a stay at home dad. He grew up in the Berkeley neighborhood, but the couple moved to Fairmount from the Sunset Heights area of Ft. Worth in March. They have four children: daughters Mayva, Ella, and Hannah, and son Haedan. "It was important to us to find a home with history and character," says Kimberly.

Their 1925 bungalow on College seems to fit the bill. The landscape itself has a bit of history. Most of the plants were transplanted from their former house. They also like to trade plants with their neighbors. If you can think of something the Lawrences do not already have growing in their yard, you might be able to work a deal and have your own piece of the Yard of the Month to take home for your landscape.

Congratulations to Jeremy and Kimberly for their home being selected. They have been awarded a gift certificate from C.C.'s Touch of Nature in recognition of their horticultural efforts.

The November Yard of the Month will be chosen based on Halloween decoration. So bring those scarecrows down from the attic. Dig those tombstones out of the garage. Drag those skeletons out of the closet. Let's make this Halloween the creepiest ever! The winner will be determined, as in years past, by a Facebook vote.

Fairmount Trap Neuter Return Program for feral cats

Fairmount has a Trap and Release Program to aid in trapping feral neighborhood cats, taking them to a vet where they can be spayed or neutered, and then returning them to the neighborhood. The program is funded by the neighborhood association. The FNA has budgeted money to pay for the spay/neuter and vaccinating and will reimburse the $15 cost for having a feral cat spayed or neutered. A receipt from the Humane Society of North Texas must be submitted for reimbursement. Fairmount has a number of live-animal traps to loan to residents with stray or feral cats. Contact Ashley Rihel at ashleyf.watson@yahoo.com if you need a trap. A $50 check made out to the FNA is required for the loan of a trap and will be returned when the trap is returned.

Daggett Middle School Hosts Fairmount Neighborhood Association Meeting

By Erin Deel, Daggett Middle School Principal

Erin Deel, Daggett Middle School principal, and the Daggett Middle School staff, appreciate and thank the Fairmount Neighborhood Association for their support.

The partnership between Daggett and Fairmount has been beneficial for the school and the students. Daggett began a partnership with Fairmount believing that a strong bond between school and community could benefit everyone and have a positive impact on the school. They are excited about continuing that partnership and continuing to create a successful, high-achieving school.

Recently, Daggett was one of four traditional FWISD middle schools selected from 25 that met federal accountability ratings. Last year was also the first time DMS met federal accountability guidelines since the inception of No Child Left Behind in 2003. Daggett is proud of their scores and the pride students take in the school. They plan to share their accomplishments at the next Fairmount Neighborhood Association meeting. The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the school auditorium at 1108 Carlock St. on Tuesday, October 23.

BOOK DRIVE FOR DAGGETT MIDDLE SCHOOL

Let's support our teachers!

By Carrie Hamstra

Book Drive for Daggett Middle School: Teachers at Daggett Middle School are asking your help in their endeavors to collect a wider range of relevant texts for students. Daggett Middle would like to be able to offer students more reading choices for their independent reading and are working to collect books that students may check out or own. If you have books at home that your child no longer has a use for, or you are willing to donate some reasonably priced texts, (many can be found on Amazon.com for as little as a penny!) it would be greatly appreciative. If you would like a list of appropriate suggestions, please feel free to call Carrie Hamstra at 817-814-5219 or Brenda Howell 817-991-2834 Thanks so much for your assistance!

National Night Out Come to Fairmount

by Janet White, Director of Public Safety

National Night Out was a huge success. It was great to have so many join us for the fun and delicious fajitas which were supplied by the Neighborhood Grill. Fairmount Citizens on Patrol and I send our thanks to everyone who helped pull it together, especially the Trimble's for the use of their beautiful yard and help with set-up. We look forward to next year.

Families and friends gather to celebrate our community. A fishing booth was provided for children and even Mayor Betsy Price was in attendance. Join us next year for this great event that focuses upon getting to know our neighbors.

GIRL'S NIGHT OUT RETURNS TO FAIRMOUNT

by Barbara Hines

On Oct. 4, the FGNO enjoyed a fabulous evening of shopping for gifts and treasures at Christmas in Cowtown, put on by the Fort Worth Junior League. There was shopping, camaraderie, adult beverages, light meal selections, and more shopping! We were able to put a dent in our holiday gift needs and get in some retail therapy. It was unanimous that this event should be included in all future FGNO yearly plans.

Just two weeks earlier, the September FGNO was held at the lovely home of Susan and Fred Harper.

A wonderful selection of food was brought and shared by a great group of women.

As future neighbors, Meghan and Jason, stopped by their new house next door, they were invited to join in the conversation and to help themselves to dinner. We all had a relaxing evening getting to know each other and sharing stories.

Due to the busy end of year holiday time, there are no FGNO events scheduled for November or December. Stay tuned for future announcements in January of 2013! If you'd like to hear about or host future FGNO events, please contact Barb Hines at finance@historic-fairmount.com.

FAIRMOUNT KID'S CORNER

by Jane Kucko, Director of Communications

Fairmount Kid's Corner is a new addition to the monthly newsletter. Our neighborhood has a bunch of lively and creative kids and we invite them to submit an original story, poem, drawing, photograph, or song, etc. each month. If one of your kid's like to write or draw, they are invited to submit their original piece of work to Fairmount Kid's Corner! Kids must be between the ages of five and eighteen years. The creative piece must be original and the kid must live in Fairmount. Submissions for December newsletter are due November 10th at communications@historicfairmount.com.

A LITTLE BIT ABOUT YOUR COMMUNICATIONS DIRECTOR

by Jane Kucko, Director of Communications

Dale and I moved to Historic Fairmount in March of 2005 and have never regretted the move for a second. While we loved our previous home in Willow Park, we just love the architecture and strong sense of community in Fairmount.

It is a thrill to sit on the front porch and watch our neighbors walk their pets and stroll with their children. We also love the wide variety of events that build a neighborhood.

Dale works at Bell Helicopter as a electronics electrician and Jane serves as the Director of International Studies at TCU.

As director of communications, I want to strongly encourage you to invite your children to submit to "Kid's Corner". We didn't get any articles for this month. Your child can write a story, poem or take a photo of their favorite place in Fairmount. It will be fun to hear from our Fairmount Kid's so encourage them to submit articles!

To learn a little bit more about my family, here is a photo of our son and daughter and their kids.

Crepe Myrtle Scale

by Susan Harper

We love our Crepe Myrtles here in Texas. We love 'em 'cause they bloom so lushly and so long and we love 'em 'cause they're so easy to care for – at least they have been 'til now... walking down the side of my house recently, I was surprised to see my crepe myrtle look like this

Now, I'm accustomed to giving my trees a stiff bath to rid them of aphids from time to time. Those nasty little critters create the sticky drippings on your driveway and cars.

But this is a new insect which seems to be related to the Azalea bark beetle and it leaves not only scaly white patches on the tree limbs but a sooty black mold. Although the pest has been in north Texas since 2005, we're just beginning to see it here.

Ugly as it is and ugly as it makes the tree look, it doesn't kill a healthy crepe myrtle.

The most effective treatment so far at this time of year is to wash the branches with a mild solution of dishwashing soap and a soft brush.

This winter, when the tree is dormant use a fairly heavy treatment of dormant oil spray. (Neither of these is a long term solution and no low impact insecticide has been developed so far.)

In the spring, release ladybugs according to direction as the best weapon against the pests (see the attached picture).

Keep after them and you can still enjoy the bounty of your crepe myrtles.

Points to Ponder

By Susan Harper

Although many of our sidewalks still needing attention, the recent repaving of sections of 5th and 6th Avenue have added to the walkable sidewalks many of us enjoy on our daily walks. For those sidewalks, the only impediments now are those things which block the sidewalk: cars, branches from low growing trees and construction or demolition debris. In case you didn't know, Sec 22-178 of the City Code for Fort Worth expressly forbids parking across the sidewalk. And the Code Department considers low growing tree branches, shrubs and construction or demolition debris as a violation as well.

Speaking of sidewalks, walking your dog at night or in the early morning when it's dark is not permission to leave his poop on the sidewalk for someone else to step in. City ordinance states that you should pick it up; at the very least, carry something that can be used to shove it into the grass. And we all want to be good neighbors as much as we want to have good neighbors.

FTS INTERNATIONAL

Fort Worth is participating in a state-wide challenge around community involvement and health-related activities. We need your help. As leaders in Fort Worth we know you are connected and have a finger on the pulse of many great things happening within our community.

We are competing against Dallas, Austin, Corpus Christi and several others in a proud race to be a recognized healthy community. You can log activities that took place in September or October. The finish line is October 30th – so log on soon.

What to log:

- Individuals can log personal Goals
- Schools can log programs like walk-a-thons or just capture moments of Pride for students going that extra mile.
- Community organizations can log activities like walks, classes, club meetings, etc.
- Principals and city leaders can take the pledge

Bottom line – there are multiple ways for us to earn points and we need you and your friends and families to log on!

You do have to create a user profile, but then choose to log your activities for Fort Worth and your set....

October's Fairmount Social Was a Scream

by Kelly Bowden

Guests gathered for a “ghoulish feast” of homemade goods with Halloween flare at the home of Phillip and Tim. Mini-bundt cakes, chocolate covered clementine oranges, pigeon wings, watermelon bacon, hommus, and an array of cheeses were provided along with wine and beer. Tim and Phillip’s home was tastefully decorated with the finest Halloween decor. Blackbirds rested upon chandeliers, mummies stood in the living room, and a myriad of other Halloween characters welcomed everyone into the fall season. Neighbors enjoyed the Autumn gardens with vibrant mums and foliage in the front and backyards. It was a very inviting experience. We are sincerely thankful to Phillip, Tim and their nephew who provided us with a wonderful fall gathering.

By Jane Kucko, Director of Communications

Do you have a favorite holiday recipe? We would love to publish recipes in the upcoming newsletters to share with family and friend. While I don't do much cooking, it is festive to bake cookies or something delicious to get into the spirit of the holidays. Please send recipes for consideration in the newsletter. Send to Jane Kucko by November 10th to communications@historicfairmount.com. A photo of the meal or the original author of the recipe is encouraged.

Grandmother's Sugar Cookie

This is my mother's sugar cookie recipe. It is delicious-note the sweetened condensed milk which adds flavor and soft texture.

Step 1

Blend with your fingers:

3 cups flour

2 tsp. baking power

1 tsp. baking soda

1 tsp. salt

1 cup shortening

Blend with your fingers until all the ingredients are mixed. Do not over mix.

Yes--use your fingers--it's o.k. if you wash your hands first.

Step 2

Manually mix:

2 eggs

1 cup sugar

4 tsp. sweetened condensed milk

1 tsp. vanilla.

Step 3

Blend the dry ingredients with the flour mixture. Form into a small ball and wrap into plastic wrap. Let refrigerate for 24 hours.

24 hours later--divide dough into two small balls. Take 1/2 dough and roll out into about a 1/8 to 1/4 inch thick dough. Cut out shapes using your favorite cookie cutters. Bake 5 to 6 minutes at 375 degrees. Do not overbake.

Decorate cookies with frosting, sprinkles, & candies. Turn your kids loose and they will come up with great designs. This is a delicious cookie and fun to make.
